RAILROAD LICENSES.

The state treasurer has received the license fee from the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, the Milwaukee & Northern and the St. Cloud, Grantsburg & Ashland Railroad companies. Like those which were reported a week ago, there is a considerable loss in the gross earnings and a corresponding decrease in the license which each pays to the state. The St. Paul reports the gross earnings for the calendar year at $7,345,011.38—a loss of about 9 per cent. The Milwaukee & Northern reports gross earnings of $878,568.58—a loss of about 15 per cent. The St. Cloud road reports its gross earnings at $5,481.39—an apparent loss of about 150 per cent. The license taxes paid were as follows: St. Paul, $293,800.46; Milwaukee & Northern, $35,143.94; St. Cloud, $217 67. The state treasurer has not yet heard from the Wisconsin Central line, although the time fixed by law for the payment of taxes expired nearly a week ago. The falling off in gross earnings is attributed to the operation of the inter-state commerce law.

Regarding the inter state commerce law and its attendant evils, the Gazette will venture the statement that the country at large as well as the transportation companies, would be better off today had the law never been enacted. The law assumes that a board of five commissioners is better qualified to adjust and regulate the tariff rate of all rail was transportation companies than is the combined talent of the owners and managers of the roads themselves. The assumption is a farce and has resulted in stimulating special state legislation along the line time, to such an extent that many railway companies have been driven to the wall during the past two years, while many more are being crippled. The Taylor bill is the latest offspring of the Interstate law. The passage of the bill means fame for Taylor, and general depression to the state. The people will be slow to endorse Mr. Taylor in his efforts for notoriety. The sentiment of the meeting at the business men's rooms last evening indicated that the railways will not suffer at the hands of Janesville people.

The St. Louis Republic (dem.) continues to compose real pretty compliments for the album of its political brother, Hill. Here is its latest swee thing: "If any body of men calling itself a national convention of the democratic party should be so lost to real democracy as to put his (Hill's) name on the National ticket, its action would bind no democrat, and the party would be saved from the disgrace of electing such a ticket by democratic votes." There is no mistaking the mournful meaning of this. In case the democratic national convention of 1892 names Mr. Hill as the party's standard-bearer, the St. Louis delegation gracefully but promptly will shake the dust of the convention from its individual and collective feet and bolt When last heard from, the Governor was still in politics and in the hands of his friends.

Patriotism, brotherly love, christian charity and things of that sort seem to be having an uncommonly "halcyon and vociferous" time at the hands of some leaders of southern sentiment. The Christian Advocate, of Richmond, Virginia, for example, remarks that "the next president is a northern Presbyterian of cerulean hue, and his private secretary is a northern Methodist. The south will as soon expect to get fairness as a calf gets fat by sucking an icicle." The editor of the paper quoted is a preacher of some note in the Methodist Episcopal church south, and his son holds a public office at Washington by the grace of the votes of northern democrats. The paper is understood to be especially devoted to the cause of wiping out sectional lines in religion. It would be interesting to know how many of its readers support it in that pious crusade.

The detention of a South American steamship for forty-eight hours at Newport News waiting for her manifest to arrive through the mails is one of the incidents of the present administration's postal methods. The manifest was sent by mail in time to meet the steamer. The full letter postage was paid on it, but the postoffice authorities contrived to put it out of its proper route and it arrived in a newspaper bag two days late. An ocean steamship had been detained at an expense of $1,200 a day to her owners, her passengers were furious, and all because the postoffice people do not know, or, knowing, do not do, their business. Well, we shall soon see the last of them. And all good riddance.

A woman near Ventura, California, recently made $100 000 in land speculation. This fired her with the ambition to get up a special "boom," and make a million, if possible. So she chartered a train for San Francisco, six hundred miles away, gave a free ride, a free lunch, and free music to all who would come, and held a big sale. But though the train was crowded with people from San Francisco, no one would buy; and instead of making a fortune she lost twenty thousand dollars. All of which proves that land booms are very uncertain things.

That young man, of Dover, N. H., who is contesting his father's will doesn't deserve to get a cent. Under the provisions of the will, he is to have $5,000 a year until his death. If he remains sober for ten years, he can draw $250,000, and if he remains sober for another ten years he can draw $250,000 more. But if he gets intoxicated once, he loses all. He is now trying to prove that his father was crazy when he made such a will; but most people will be rather inclined to think the young man himself crazy for contesting it

Gems of political wisdom, says the New York Tribune, are not often found in funeral tributes, yet one glittered bright in the resolutions prepared by Mr Choate and adopted by the Union League Club in honor of Mr. Dalton. "He was a republican always," the resolution says, "because he could not help it, and had no sympathy with that common fallacy of reform that in times of doubt and danger the good men of a party must all leave it in order to make it better." This sums up all the folly and futility of mugwumpery in one sentence.

There seems to be a good chance that South Dakota will be admitted at this session, and that North Dakota, Montana and Washington will come in later by proclamation, as Colorado did, without waiting for further legislation. Poor Springer!

A Florida paper says that the two requisites for a pleasant winter in Florida are sunshine and Yankees, especially Yankees.

LEGISLATORS HAVE FUN.

Contribution Boxes Wanted Instead of Conductors on Wisconsin Railroads.

An Immense Number of Dead-Head Bills Introduced In The Two Houses.

MADISON, February 19.—A large number of dead-head bills were introduced in the assembly this morning, among them to prevent killing birds for millinery purposes.

To facilitate railroad travel by abolishing conductor and erecting contribution boxes in the cars, passengers to pay fare according to dictates of their consciences.

Among the bills introduced and referred, were:

Appropriating two thousand dollars to executive committee of the state grange.

For the purpose of agricultural education among farmers and making railroad companies liable in certain cases for injuries to employees through negligence of the co-employees.

Authorizing Milwaukee to issue bonds to erect a public library and museum building.

Appropriating twenty thousand dollars for the purpose of erecting a school of mines at Hurley.

Twenty-six petitions were presented in the senate in favor of Joiner's local option bill.

A joint resolution relating to succession of chief justices was concurred in.

Bills were introduced enabling qualified voters of any town, village or city within this state to determine by ballot whether any spirituous, malt or intoxicating liquors drank shall be sold therein as beverages.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN.

The New Orleans Creole Woman's Exchange is now an accomplished fact, and the early stages of its career are apparently most auspicious. Every sort of woman's work will be handled, and home-made articles will, of course, be the special feature of the sale department.

The working women of Mexico have been celebrating the anniversary of the foundation of their mutual-benefit association by a series of concerts. Whenever any special phase of sentiment or enthusiasm is uppermost in the Mexican heart it seems to need either music or flower displays to express itself.

According to Boston papers there is a new feature of life in the universal Hub. It is the business girl. She is not afraid of a man and doesn't bother her head about catching one. She dresses faultlessly, looks her prettiest, has a soft voice, but does not flirt during business hours. She comes in on the steam or horse cars and shows her good sense by taking a crowd as a matter of course, and does not disturb others with disagreeable, petulant ways when she has to stand. She is like a man in two things: First, she dresses at home and never appears to think of her clothes again until she changes them; second, she regards men as they do each other, in perfect equality and with perfect confidence.

CULINARY MAXIMS.

Another's bread costs dear.
All griefs will break at less.
Living well is the best revenge.
Flies trouble not the boiling pot.
A little with quiet is the only diet.
Every day brings its bread with it.
Speak not of a dead man at the table.
A little kitchen maketh a large house.
All things require skill but an appetite.
He that eats the hard shall eat the ripe.
"I was taken by a morsel," says the fish.
The dainties of the great are the tears of the poor.
Who hath no more bread than need must not keep a dog.
I had rather ask of my fire brown bread than borrow white of my neighbor.

TO BE AVOIDED.

Don't use obsolete words.
Don't use technical terms.
Don't use slang expressions.
Don't write a feeble sentence.
Don't write a clumsy sentence.
Don't say commence for begin.
Don't write an obscure sentence.
Don't say vituperation for abuse.
Don't say initiate for commence.
Don't use foreign words or phrases.
Don't take an impracticable position.
Don't say "bard of Florence" for Dante.
Don't tempt one to question your veracity.
Don't say "Quake poet" for Whittier, unless it be to prevent too frequent repitition.

A TERRIBLE CALAMITY.

A HOTEL SHATTERED BY A BURSTING BOILER.

Fifty Sleeping Occupants of the House Buried Alive Under the Falling Walls.

The Ruins Catch Fire and the Crushed Victims Are Slowly Cremated —Sickening Scenes.

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 19.—At 4:30 o'clock Monday morning the boiler of the Park Central hotel, which ran a dynamo and supplied power for the elevator of the house, exploded with terrific violence, blowing out the entire front and one side of the house. The lower part of the main building was completely wrecked and all the staircases broken away, so that every avenue of escape was destroyed.

The hotel was a five-story brick structure and had eighty bedrooms, all of which were occupied last night. The horror of the scene was increased by fire which immediately broke out in the ruins. Only one person in the main building escaped the first force of the explosion, Mrs. Ellen Driscoe, a boarder, of New Britian, Conn., who was taken out of her room at the southeast corner of the hotel entirely uninjured, further than the shock to her system. Later Harry Stiffel, a commercial traveler of Philadelphia, was taken out from under the bed, which had been turned upside down by the explosion. He was able to walk away unassisted, and when asked if he was hurt, said: "You bet your life I'm not."

Fifty People in the Building.

The magnitude of the calamity can not be realized, and, in fact, its extent is not yet known. The register of the hotel is not yet found, and Night Clerk Perry is buried in the ruins. But from the best estimates that can be procured it is probable that there were not far from fifty people in the hotel proper. Of these perhaps five have escaped uninjured, leaving forty-five to be accounted for. Ten are in the hospital, and up to 11 p. m. sixteen dead bodies had been taken from the ruins, leaving nineteen still missing. But there may be several more than this. Mr. Andrew F. Whiting, actuary of the Hartford Life and Annuity insurance company, and wife; the Rev. Dr. Lavalette Perrin, agent of the Memorial Hall association, and wife, and Edwin Perry, the night clerk, are known to be still in the ruins.

It is believed that Mrs. Wesson of Springfield, Mass., the widow of Frank Wesson, who was killed at the White River Junction railroad accident, was in the hotel, together with all of her family—five children—and probably a servant or two. People from Springfield were in the city to-day, anxious to find her, knowing that she staid in Hartford over Sunday; but her name can not be found on any hotel register and it is feared she was in the Park Central. If so, her death and that of her family would raise the aggragate loss of life probably seven additional.

List of the Dead.

The complete list of the bodies taken out up to 11:30 p. m. is as follows:

DWIGHT H. BUEL, a jeweler of Hartford.
GEORGE GAINES, colored porter of the hotel.
J. GEORGE ENGLER, a drug clerk of Hartford.
JOHN W. HOUSMAN, traveler for the Revere Rubber company of Boston.
J. C. HILL of Buffalo, N. Y., supposed to be a commercial traveler.
LOUIS H. BRONSON, secretary of the Hartford Stove and Plumbing company, his wife and child.
GEORGE KETCHUM, brother of the landlord.
EDDIE KETCHUM, aged 11, son of the landlord.
GEORGE W. ROOT of Brockport, N. Y., traveler for White, Williams & Co. of Boston.
A. H. TILLOTSON, traveler for the Merrill Chemical Co. of Cincinnati.
MAXIMILIAN GALLODY, proprietor of the Hartford Herold, and wife. Mr. Galody was for some time a clerk in the bureau of statistics, treasury department, and bought the Herold about three years ago.
Mrs. ANDREW F. WHITING. Her body was burned to a crisp.
Two unknown persons are among the dead.

The Injured.

The victims at the hospital are all doing well, most of the injuries being superficial, although all are suffering from chill and exposure. Following is a complete list:
HELEN LEPORT of New Britain, scalp wounds and bruises.
RACHAEL CRAMER of Avon, bruised and scratched.
JABOB W. TURPIN, a colored barber.
WALTER M. GAY of Rayomd, N. J., injured only by exposure.
HENRY STEFFEL of Philadelphia, a commercial traveler, sprained ankle.
WELLINGTON KETCHUM, proprietor of hotel, bruised.
Mrs. GEORGIE KETCHUM, wife of above, general bruises.
JENNIE DECKER of Unionville, broken leg.
MICHAEL CORRINGTON of Unionville, bruised, not seriously.
ENOS JAMES.

The body of S. J. C. Pendleton of Indianapolis, who was soliciting subscriptions for the Hendricks monument, is also known to be in the ruins.

Sickening Scenes.

The scenes about the ruins were horrible. In the center of the spot where the building stood, was a man, his wife, and a little girl. No help could get to them and they finally fell back into the flames and perished in sight of the spectators. The child cried for help, but the man and woman uttered no sound. Clasped in a close embrace, they met death bravely. The shrieks of another woman caused the blood of the spectators to turn cold. They saw a young lady lying with her body half across a beam, a look of agony on her face. Finally the support fell and she dropped out of sight.

William Seymour and William Skinner were employed in the boiler-room. Neither could be found Monday morning and they have probably perished. Eddie Boyle was last seen in the hotel. He is probably dead. The shock of the explosion blew out every window in the south side of the Earl House, just north of the Park Central Hotel. Women, their faces blanched with terror, and strong men, pale with fright, rushed headlong into the street in their night-clothes.

Charles M. Webster, an insurance agent of this city, is missing. Mr. Pond of Indiana, the Democratic speaker, was a guest at the hotel and is supposed to be among the killed.

Exploring the Ruins.

As soon as the ruins had cooled sufficiently to admit of exploration the work was begun. The first person rescued was George Gaines, the colored porter. He was badly injured and died soon after being taken out. At about 7 o'clock Superintendent Lawrence, of the Street department, appeared upon the scene with a large gang of laborers, and the search was prosecuted with renewed activity. Helen Leport of New Britain, and Jennie Decker of Unionville, were soon rescued comparatively uninjured and sent to the hospital. Jacob B. Turpin a colored barber, was also taken out early in the morning. Rachel Cramer jumped from a window, breaking her leg. At 9 o'clock Harris Steffe of Philadelphia, a traveler for the Barnes Safe and Lock company, was liberated by raising the timbers which held him down. He was only slightly injured. At 10:30 the dead body of Dwight H. Buell, single, jeweler, of this city, was recovered. The body was not mangled, death having been caused by suffocation.

By noon telegrams of anxious inquiry were pouring in from every part of the country, and friends of those supposed to be in the ruins were arriving by every train, together with an immense crowd of curious people from the surrounding towns. The lower floor of the wool warehouse of H. C. Judd & Root was made a temporary morgue. Here physicians were in attendance and here the bodies were taken as fast as recovered and opportunity was given for identification by friends. Those not identified were taken in charge by the city and cared for in a room of the old city hall. The injured were promptly sent to the hospital.

The recovery of the bodies was slow owing to the immense accumulation of debris, but at nearly regular intervals one or two bodies were found during the afternoon. When claimed by friends they were delivered to undertakers. As a rule the corpses bore but slight marks of fire, the victims dying either from suffocation or bruising.

The catastrophe was devoid of the harrowing details, the hair-breadth escapes, and the thrilling rescues usually attending such disasters. One terrible crash, smoke, flames, quick-rushing streams of water, and all was over. For this reason the community does not feel tumultuous grief, but it is horror-stricken. The disaster simply overwhelms.

The Hotel Engineer Arrested.

The cause of the disaster was undoubtedly the explosion of the boiler in the basement. The boiler, of sixteen-horse power, was built by the Pitkins of this city in 1882. It was inspected by an officer in the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance company last August and was then pronounced all right. No engineer was on duty at the time of the explosion, the custom being for the night engineer to bank his fires at night and go to bed. He does not sleep in the hotel. This engineer, Alexander Thuer, has been arrested on an indictment charging manslaughter, and is locked up at the police station. It is conjectured that Gaines, the colored porter, may have started the pumps, throwing cold water into an overheated boiler. But this is only conjecture, and Gaines is dead.

Stories of the Rescued.

A New York drummer, whose home is in Portland, Maine, and who slept in the annex of the hotel, a part of which is still standing, says he felt something of a shock and heard a sound, but nothing like what should accompany a boiler explosion. He did not believe there had been one and did not even deem it advisable to get up, but the next instant he heard piercing shrieks and felt the floor tremble. He jumped out of bed and escaped in his night clothes.

Walter M. Gay occupied a room adjoining that of Landlord Ketchum and wife When he awoke he felt the bed sinking with him. Soon it became stationary. He was lying on his left side, pinned down by the ceiling, etc., in such a manner that he was entirely unable to move, although his right arm was free. He did not lose consciousness a moment throughout. He soon heard the voices of Mr. and Mrs. Ketchum and conversed with them concerning the chances of escape. Before he was rescued the water from the fire engines had nearly covered his face.

Enos James, brother to the New York agent of the White Star line, occupied the room directly over the Ketchums, and also heard their voices. When he was taken out he informed the searchers of this fact, and the Ketchums were soon rescued. All these persons were confined in the ruins seven or eight hours and are not any of them dangerously injured.

T. P. Robertson, the head waiter, gave the following story: "I was awakened by the shock and hurried my clothes on. There was great commotion among the employes, the girls especially being excited and anxious to leave the building. When I jumped out of bed I heard loud screams from the ruins. I thought the hotel was on fire and made hasty preparations to leave. My room was shaken up, the furniture being knocked about. Finding the annex was all right I returned to my home, and, after dressing, aided others in getting out."

HARTFORD, Conn., Feb. 19, 2 a. m.—Charred remains have been found in the ruins which are presumed to be those of Mr. Whiting. The force of workers has been increased, and the search is vigorously urged. Following is a summary at this hour: 25 dead, 18 at the hospital, and 10 known to be in the ruins.

Three members of the "Hoodman Blind" company, Tony Ebinger, wife, and child, are still in the ruins. It is also reported that several members of the "Forgiven" company are lost, though at present it is impossible to verify the rumor. The body of M. Hearsemann of Brooklyn has been recovered. Landlord Ketchum and his wife have been taken out. The latter is terribly burned and will probably die. Mr. Ketchum will, it is thought, survive. The body of J. E. Hill, a commercial traveler, has been recovered. Mr. Morrison and Fred Haines, employes of the New England road, are missing. They were last seen in the hotel and are supposed to be dead. The aggregate loss is estimated at $75,000; insurance, $60,000.

R. J. Pendleton Safe.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 19.—The report that R. J. C. Pendleton of this city was one of the victims of the Hartford disaster is incorrect. His son, A. D. Pendleton, has received a message from his father saying that his baggage had been destroyed but that he escaped. Mr. Pendleton left the hotel Saturday to spend Sunday with his son in Vermont.

PLUNGED INTO A DEEP GORGE.

A Fearful Accident Reported on the Grand Trunk Railway.

MONTREAL, Que., Feb. 19.—A report has been received here of a terrible railway accident at St. Hilaire, on the line of the Grand Trunk railway. The rumor states that a passenger train of the Central Vermont, for Boston and New York, went through the bridge which crosses the Richelieu river, between Beloit and St. Hilarie. If the report is true a terrible calamity has happened, as the bridge in question crosses a gorge nearly 200 feet in height and the Richelieu at this point is very deep and rushes under the bridge with a great swiftness. The railway authorities refuse either to confirm or deny the truth of the story. Efforts have been made to reach the nearest point to the alleged accident by both telegraph and telephone, but without result. It is almost certain that an accident of a more or less serious nature has taken place.

A Brakeman's Horrible Death.

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 19.—Alfred Taylor of Fort Gratiot, a Grand trunk brakeman, fell from the train at Attica and had his head severed from his body.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.

ECONOMY, as wise folks say,
Is wealth pronounced another way,
So while "hard times" the people cry,
The Toilet Soaps they should not buy.
Let all who buy such Soaps take care
To weigh the cake exact and fair,
And find they pay in figures round
A dollar, more or less per pound.

What course should people then pursue?
In short, the only thing to do,
Though rich in bonds, or worldly poor,
The "IVORY SOAP" they should procure,
Which may be bought from coast to coast,
At sixteen cents per pound at most,
And does more satisfaction grant
Than all the Toilet Soaps extant.

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it,

THE STATE LAW-MAKERS.

AN ILLINOIS BILL TO PROHIBIT "TREATING."

A Volume of Business Presented at Indianapolis—Wisconsin Lumbermen Object to a Measure.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 19.—The House with but a small attendance but full of business got down to work at 10 o'clock Monday morning. The bill amending the general road and bridge law came up on second reading. The bill provides that when two vehicles meet on a public road each shall turn to the right for the passage of the other, the vehicle failing to so turn shall be held liable for any damage that may ensue from a collision, unless it be proven that the nature of the road rendered it impossible for such vehicle to give the partial road. The bill also makes it unlawful for the owner of any vehicle to keep in his employ a driver addicted to drunkenness; if he shall, after having been notified of the drunken habits of such driver, still continue him in his employ he shall be liable to a fine of $5 per day for each day he so violates the law. A penalty is also imposed upon the driver of any public vehicle who, while passengers are on the inside, leaves the vehicle standing without properly tying the horses to some hitching-post. The bill was ordered engrossed and its third reading made a special order for Feb. 26.

The following bills were introduced: By Mr. Crafts, abolishing the State board of agriculture and establishing instead an agricultural commission to consist of seven members to be appointed by the Governor. One member is to be selected from each judicial district of the State and the term of office is to be six years; by Mr. Lester, to declare unlawful all trusts and combinations in respect to trade and products, and to provide penalties therefor; by Mr. Walker, to prohibit the treating of persons to intoxicating liquors.

Mr. Oglevee introduced a bill providing for the permanent location of the State fair at some city, the name of which was left blank, to be determined by subsequent action of the House. By unanimous consent the rules were suspended, the bill read a first time, and ordered to a second reading.

Mr. Brokoski introduced a bill to enable mechanics, journeymen, tradesmen, and laborers to form societies and associations for their mutual aid, benefit, and protection, and to peaceably meet, discuss, and establish all necessary by-laws, rules, and regulations to carry out the same.

Mr. Kenny introduced a bill defining lager beer and preventing its adulteration. The bill defines "lager beer" as beer being made from pure barley malt and hops, and in no way made of any other ingredients as a substitute for barley or hops, and free from artificial coloring matter. Any beer not so manufactured shall be termed "commercial beer," or "commercial lager beer," and each keg, bottle, or other vessel containing such "commercial beer" shall be stamped or branded with stamps furnished at a reasonable cost by the State treasurer, and shall bear a label stating that the manufacturers have complied with all the requirements of the law, and the keg, bottle, or vessel shall not be used for commercial beer again. These stamps must destroyed as soon as the beer in the vessels is used under penalty of a fine of not less than $1,000 and imprisonment in the county jail for not less than thirty days nor more than nine months. Connected with the State Treasurer's office there is to be an analytical chemist and microscopist at a salary of $2,500 a year, to be appointed by the Governor, whose duty it shall be to examine commercial beers upon complaints being made, and to prosecute the manufacturers if the beers are found to contain any matter deleterious to health. Beer made from pure barley malt and hops, without the addition of coloring matter, will not be stamped and shall not be subject to the State inspection provided for in this act.

The Senate.

About twenty Senators were present when the Senate was called to order at 11 o'clock Monday morning by President pro tem. Chapman. Mr. Bacon of Will offered a petition against the repeal of the pharmacy law. Mr. Strattan offered a resolution directing the president of the Senate to appoint Alexander Hoffman (colored) janitor of the Democratic cloakroom. Laid over under the rules.

The following bills were introduced: By Mr. Eckhart, enabling corporations organized under special charters to own and possess as much personal and real estate as is necessary for the transaction of their business, the same as corporations organized under the general law; by Mr. Hammer, providing punishment for persons who defraud the keepers of hotels or restaurants; by Mr. Reinhardt, giving county courts jurisdiction in cases of voluntary assignment; by Mr. Yost, prohibiting forming of "protective combines" by insurance agents.

The bill providing "that in all criminal prosecutions involving proof of the legal existence of a corporation user shall be a prima facie evidence of such an existence" was read a second time and ordered to a third reading. The House bill changing the time of holding Circuit court in Fulton county was laid on the table, a similar bill having been passed by the Senate.

LAWS FOR MICHIGAN.

A Bill Introduced to Retire State Judges on Pensions.

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 19.—Among the bills introduced in the Legislature Monday were those to incorporate an institution to be established in Detroit under the name of the Lewis Cass Home for the cure of Inebriates; to give Supreme court judges over 70 years of age and who have served fifteen years a pension of $2,500, and Circuit court judges $1,500; to abolish the marriage license system and the State board of Pharmacy; to impose a State tax on hunters and sportsmen of $5 for residents in Michigan and $10 for non-residents; to provide for the relief of soldiers outside of the soldiers' home; to hold a special election next November to vote upon a proposition to hold a convention in December, 1891, to amend the constitution; to provide ballot boxes with glass sides; to prohibit the employment of children under 14 years of age in Grand Rapids while the public schools are in session.

TROUBLE FOR LUMBERMEN.

The Wisconsin Legislature Passes a Bill They Object To.

MADISON, Wis., Feb. 19.—The bill recently rushed to passage in both houses asserting the jurisdiction of the State over the eastern half of the St. Croix river, a stream forming the northwestern boundary between Wisconsin and Minnesota, has precipitated the anticipated opposition from the Minnesota side. A lobby of nearly a dozen prominent lumbermen of Stillwater, Winona and other Minnesota points have arrived and since have assiduously labored to secure the Governor's veto. Arguments in opposition were made and the Governor now has the matter under advisement. The action is a renewal of an old fight. Although the St. Croix is a navigable stream, a private corporation, the St. Croix Boom company, has maintained a boom which has interferred with logging on the Wisconsin side and obstructed navigation. Aware of the fact that a bill was pending in the Minnesota Legislature for a renewal of the boom company's franchise in 1890 the Wisconsin bill was hurried through. Should the Governor approve it action will be instituted to have the boom company's boom on the Wisconsin side condemned. Vast interests are involved and much litigation will be the result.

Bills were introduced in the Legislature appropriating $75,000 for a new armory and gymnasium at the State University; providing for the purchase of a permanent rifle range and encampment grounds at Camp Douglas for the National Guard; extending the time of annual encampments to ten days and making the pay of enlisted guardsmen $2 per day; appropriating $12,000 for a mechanics' and laborers' institute, to be conducted by commissioners appointed by the Supreme court; making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday; making uniform appropriations to all agricultural and industrial associations; and appropriating $3 per week to all dependent veterans, whether in the State Veterans' Home or at their own homes.

PROCEEDINGS IN INDIANA.

Many New Bills Introduced in the Legislature.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 19.—Among the measures passed to engrossment by the House Monday was the bill making it a misdemeanor to treat to drinks in a saloon; also the bill regulating deposit and trust companies and doubling the tax on dogs from $1 and $2 to $2 and $4. Representative Shields introduced a bill providing for a State boiler inspector, a board of examing engineers, and the licensing of stationary engineers. The general appropriation bill was introduced and referred without reading. Representative Applegate's bill, intended to apply specially to New Albany, creating a city sinking fund in cities of 10,000 population with an outstanding indebtedness of $100,000; passed the House under a suspension of the rules.

Many new bills were introduced in the Senate, among others one providing for the extension of the capitol grounds; also one by Senator Hays regulating the conduct of foreign insurance companies doing business in Indiana. Senator Johnson introduced a civil service bill. The committee to which the bill reducing the legal rate of interest from 8 to 6 per cent had been referred returned it with the recommendation that it be indefinitely postponed. Senator Sears' bill to permit the removal of the county seat by a vote of the citizens of Crawford county from Leavenworth to English, was passed to engrossment. Senator Barrett's bill against speculating in margins was made the special order for Friday. A bill by Senator Thompson regulating the location of telegraph poles in cities, and meant especially to apply to Indianapolis was ordered engrossed.

CRIMINAL RECORD.

A Fatal Dispute That Grew Out of a Game of "Craps."

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Luther Reynolds, a negro 22 years of age, was shot and instantly killed by a negro named Scott Walker in William Lewis' saloon at 462 State street, about 11 o'clock this morning. Both men were roustabouts, Walker having but recently come to this city from Milwaukee. This morning they became engaged in a game of "craps" at the place mentioned and were very soon involved in a quarrel over the "pot," which consisted of 45 cents. A bystander says that Reynolds drew a razor and chased Walker around the table, threatening to "do him up." Walker exclaimed: "Look out there, boy, or I'll make it hot for you." Reynolds, it is said, continued to pursue Walker, who thereupon drew a revolver and fired three shots at his antagonist. One of them pierced Reynolds' heart, and he fell to the floor dead. The murderer at once gave himself up to the armory officers.

TRIED TO KILL HIMSELF.

Frank Sloss, a Flagman, Shoots Himself and Will Probably Die.

CHICAGO, Feb. 19.—Frank Sloss, a flagman on the Pan-Handle railroad at the Twenty-sixth street crossing, made an attempt to take his own life this morning by shooting himself through the head.

At 8:15 o'clock several persons heard a pistol shot in the switchman's little shanty, and upon investigation they learned that Sloss had fired a bullet into his right ear. The victim was taken to the county hospital and will probably die.

The cause of the attempted suicide is not generally known, but it is said that Sloss had been having some trouble with the company and was afraid he was going to be discharged. He was a German, 65 years of age, married, and had a family living at 130 Hinman street.

A MIDNIGHT HORROR.

A Husband Forces His Wife to Leap From a Window.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—At midnight last night Mrs. Rahl jumped from the first story of her residence, 2,187 Seventh avenue. Three shots which were fired attracted the attention of an officer, who found John C. Rahl with a smoking revolver in his hand and a bullet hole in his hat. He would give no explanation of what had occurred and Mrs. Rahl, who was suffering from a broken leg, also declined to give any information. Rahl was arrested and will be taken to court to-day.

The Murderer Dead.

TECUMSEH, Mich., Feb. 19.—Frank Silvers, who murdered his wife and two daughters, and then shot himself at Tecumsah Saturday night, died Sunday morning without giving a word of reason for his horrible crime.

IRON-WORKERS' WAGES.

What the Effect of Their Reduction, if Accepted, Will Be.

READING, Pa., Feb. 19.—Notices of reductions in wages of iron-workers, to take effect about March 1, having recently been made in Reading, Harrisburg, Pottstown, Pottsville, Birdsboro and other places. It was learned here Monday that a joint meeting of delegates representing all the iron-workers affected in these cities will be held shortly to decide whether or not to accept. If the reduction is made it will bring puddlers' wages down to $3 and $3.25 per ton, which is lower than for many years, and all other employes will be reduced from 7 to 10 per cent. The employes affected by the notices of reduction number between 3,000 and 4,000.

A Great Defense Loan.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—It is reported that at the coming session of Parliament the government will propose a defense loan of £109,000,000. The proceeds of the loan will be devoted to the construction of twenty men-of-war and fifty cruisers, and to increasing the number of torpedo boats.

Idleness is a Dangerous Fault.

In the kidneys. When inactive they speedily fall into dispair. Those obstinate and fatal maladies, Bright's disease and diabetes, ensue with terrible certainty upon the inaction of the organs affected. Catarrh of the bladder, enuresis, gravel and strangury are also to be apprehended from a partial paralysis of the bladder, of which weakness and sluggishness are the causes. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a fine tonic and promoter of activity for the renal organs, and which can be relied upon to afford them the requisite stimulus without it exciting them—an effect to be feared from the unmedicated alcoholic excitant of commerce. A further beneficent effect of the Bitters, by renewing activity of the kidneys, is to enable them to drain from the blood in its passage through them, impurities productive of rheumatism and dropsy. Nervousness, fever and ague, constipation and dyspepsia are conquered by the Bitters.

THOSE UNHAPPY PERSONS who suffer from nervousness and dyspepsia should use Carter's Little Nerve pills, which are made expressly for sleepless, nervous, dyspeptic suffers. Price 25 cents.

CHICAGO TO CALIFORNIA Without Change of Cars.

The Santa Fe Route is now running a Pullman Vestibule Sleeping Car from Chicago to San Diego, via. Los Angeles, without change. The train leaves Dearborn Station, Chicago, every night at 11 o'clock. This is a great attraction and an unequalled accommodation for passengers. Office, 212 Clark street, corner Adams.

A Woman's Discovery.

"Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for several years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was so much relieved on taking first dose that she slept all night and with one bottle has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz," Thus writes W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. —Get a trial bottle free at F. Sherer & Co.'s drug store.

IT IS A POLITICAL SCHEME.

Gov. Larrabee Says His Enemies Are Pushing the Case Against Him.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Feb. 19.—Quite a sensation was caused when it was made known that Gov. Larrabee had been indicted by the Polk county grand jury on the charge of criminal libel in issuing a circular made up from documents on file in his office in the Chester Turney case. In the district court Monday morning an attorney appeared for the Governor, waved arraignment, and entered the plea of "not guilty." The Governor was not arrested, but deposited $500 in lieu of bail for his appearance. The trial was set for Thursday next.

In an interview Gov. Larrabee said that, while the proceeding was apparently in the interests of the mother of Chester Turney, yet there were other parties behind her who were pushing the suit solely to annoy and injure him. "I am not at all surprised," said the Governor, "at this indictment. I have been kept informed of the efforts that have been made in this direction, and as long ago as December was told by one of the attorneys for Mrs. Turney that if I didn't pardon the boy there would be trouble made for me. I told him I was not discharging my duties with a view to my personal comfort, and had not so far looked to my convenience in doing what I thought was right."

IS STANLEY DEAD?

Another Report That He Has Been Murdered.

PARIS, Feb. 19.—The correspondent of the Petit Journal at Saint Salvador, Congo, says that a courier has arrived at that place from the west coast, who states that a report is current there that Henry M. Stanley was killed in an engagement with natives near Mangamba. The courier reports that several instruments which have been identified as having belonged to Mr. Stanley have been sold by natives.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The evening papers here place no credence in the report published in the Paris Petit Journal that Henry M. Stanley has been killed by natives in Africa.

Catarrh Cured.

A clergyman, after years of suffering from that loathsome disease Catarrh, and vainly trying every known remedy at last found a recipe which completely cured and saved him from death. Any sufferer from this dreadful disease sending a self addressed stamped envelope to Prof. J. A. Lawrence, 88 Warren St., New York city, will receive the recipe free of charge

How Doctors Conquer Death.

Dr. Walter K. Hammond says: "After a long experience I have come to the conclusion that two-thirds of all deaths from coughs, pneumonia and consumption, might be avoided if Dr. Acker's English Remedy for consumption were only used in time." This wonderful remedy is sold under a positive guarantee by Prentice & Evenson, druggists.

CURIOSITIES OF SUICIDE.

A Roman lady swallowed red-hot coals.

A Frenchman built a small guillotine and beheaded himself.

An English iron-worker literally jumped into a fiery furnace.

Domestic trouble is the principal cause of suicide; alcoholism comes next.

In America June is the favorite month for committing suicide; in France August.

At Plymouth, England, a man tied his hands and feet together (?) and then jumped into the water.

France is the banner suicide country. In that country 216 persons in 1,000,000 take their own lives; in England 74.

Janos Meryessi, an Austrian 84 years old, killed himself because he could no longer support his parents, aged 115 and 110 respectively.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely for the last fifteen years, and had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh—Mrs. E. E. Grimes, 66 Valley street, Rendrill, Perry county, Ohio.

EVERY NIGHT I SCRATCHED

Until the skin was raw. Body covered with scales like spots of mortar. Cured by the Cuticura Remedies.

I am going to tell you of the extraordinary change your Cuticura Remedies performed on me. About the 1st of last April I noticed some red pimples like coming out all over my body, but thought nothing of it until some time later on, when it began to look like spots of mortar spotted on, and which came off in layers, accompanied with itching. I would scratch every night until I was raw, then the next night the scales being formed, meanwhile, were scratched off again. In vain did I consult all the doctors in the country, but without aid. After giving up all hopes of recovery, I happened to see an advertisement in the newspaper about your Cuticura Remedies, and purchased them from my druggist, and obtained almost immediate relief. I began to notice that the scaly eruptions gradually dropped off and disappeared one by one, and have been fully cured. I had the disease thirteen months before I began taking the Cuticura Remedies, and in four or five weeks was entirely cured. My disease was eczema and psoriasis. I recommend the Cuticura Remedies to all in my vicinity, and I know of a great many who have taken them, and thank me for the knowledge of them, especially mothers who have babes with scaly eruptions on their heads and bodies. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the Cuticura Remedies have been to me. My body was covered with scales, and I was an awful spectacle to behold. Now my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's.

Catarrh to Consumption.

Catarrh in its destructive force stands next to and undoubtedly leads on to consumption. It is therefore singular that those afflicted with this fearful disease should not make it the object of their lives to rid themselves of it. Deceptive remedies concocted by ignorant pretenders to medical knowledge have weakened the confidence of the great majority of all sufferers in advertized remedies. They become resigned to a life of misery, rather than torture themselves with doubtful palliatives.

But this will never do. Catarrh must be met at every stage and combated with all our might. In many cases the disease has assumed dangerous symptoms. The bones and cartilage of the nose, the organs of hearing, of seeing and of tasting so affected as to be useless, the uvulva so elongated, the throat so inflamed and irritated as to produce a constant and distressing cough.

Sanford's Radical Cure meets every phase of Catarrh, from a simple head cold to the most loathsome and destructive stages. It is local and constitutional, instant in relieving, permanent in curing, safe, economical and never failing.

Each package contains one bottle of the Radical cure, one box of Catarrhal Solvent, and an Improved Inhaler, with treatise; price, $1.

COCK-FIGHTING ANCIENT.

THE SPORT DATES BACK TWENTY CENTURIES.

How Game-Birds Are Raised and Trained—Famous Breeds, Ancient and Modern.

As a sport among gentleman cock fighting has long been a favorite. The custom dates back more than 2,000 years. The first accounts of combats between feathered fighters are given by Pliny. The historian says that the inhabitants of Asia, and especially the city of Pergamus, were particularly fond of the sport. The Grecian armies carried the custom home with them from Asia. The Athenians readily took up the sport and first fought the cocks for the ludicrous aspects they assumed rather than for the excitement they provided. Later, Themistocles taught his soldiers to indulge in the sport in order that they might see the great examples of bravery shown by games and thereby be incited to greater courage in battle. From that time the most classic people of the world fought chickens as they are now matched for the excitement. The most famous breeds were raised in Chaleis and Eubold, who bred their chickens with the idea of making them as large as possible. Alexandria also had a famous breed of chickens which are said to have whipped all others of their kind.

As was the case with every other custom, says a writer in the Kansas City Times, Rome took the cue from Athens and cock fighting became one of its principal sports. The Romans modified the custom somewhat, and succeeded in training quail to fight as gallantly as chickens. Various breeds of game chickens existed in England before the conquest by Caesar, but to the Romans is due the credit of introducing the sport and fighting them in that country. The islanders soon became infatuated with it and in later years the pits were liberally patronized by the highest nobility. During the time of Thomas a Becket cock fighting was very popular in England, and under Henry VIII. the famous Westminster cock pit existed, where the Houses of Parliament now stand, and received a large share of royal patronage. The sport was first checked by the passage of a law in 1654 prohibiting the fighting of game cocks and imposing a fine of £5 per day upon anyone owning a game cock. After this battles were still fought, but in a secret place. During the reign of Charles II. the famous breed of pyle cocks was introduced.

The Spanish and Mexicans have always been ardent admirers of the feathered combatants, and for nearly a century cock fighting has been one of the most popular winter sports of this country. Before the war many of the most prominent men, both in the South and North, had their breeds of games and indulged in frequent mains, upon the result of which thousands were often wagered. Prominent among the old-time chicken fanciers of this country were August Belmont, James Gordon Bennett, Col. Daniel McDaniels, Col. Hunter, John Morrissey, Thomas Heathwood, John Franklin, and Harry Genet.

No animal could possibly be more courageous or oblivious to personal danger than a thorough-bred game cock. When first put into the pit they run together with all the furry imaginable, and even when mortally wounded they seem to think only of how to reach each other and continue the battle. Instinct teaches them to be fighters, and they apparently know the purposes of the pit. A cock alone in the pit struts around with all the dignity of a French valet and the grace of a refined lady. He eyes the surrounding crowd with a confident look.

When breeding games the greatest care must be taken to keep out even the slightest strain of common blood. The hens are usually kept in an inclosed yard until they are ready to set, and then with the eggs they are sent to some country farm, or "walk," where the chickens are hatched and raised. As soon as the chickens are hatched the owner puts a private mark upon them, and again when they are about six months old he marks them so as to be sure that no common stock has got mixed up with the games. The wilder life the games are allowed to lead upon the "walk" the better fighters they make. Fanciers try to get a hilly place for the birds to run upon so that their limbs will be strengthened by the additional exercise of climbing.

When a fight is arranged the chickens are brought in about ten days or two weeks before the date set for the battle and trained up. In this there is as much skill as there is in training a horse for a race. The birds are fed carefully and exercised twice a day. The exercise consists principally of "flirting" the cock for fifteen or twenty minutes. A soft place is arranged for him to light upon, and he is pitched into the air with the attempt to make him fall upon his side or back. This trains him to receive the enemy's blows without losing his balance, and also hardens every muscle in the body. Chickens should always be exercised by the same light in which they are to fight. The wildest chicken brought in from the "walk" after being handled a few times becomes as gentle as a house dog. Often when the coop door is opened they fly to the exercising bag and commence fluttering and "flirting."

Just before entering the pit the chickens are trimmed. In former years this consisted of cutting all of the feathers off the neck; shortening the tail feathers proper, and cutting off the short feathers under the tail, clipping the wing feathers so that they would be sharp and endanger the adversary's eyes. Now the wings are left the natural length and the necks are trimmed only when the short gaffs are to be used.

One of the most skillful parts played by the handlers in a cock fight is the "heeling." The gaffs must be set so as to be in line with the stroke of the leg, and must be tied on tight enough to prevent slipping, and yet not cramp the leg. There are half a dozen kinds of gaffs used, of which cuts are given of the two principal styles. Cut No. 2 represents a gaff that is considered the fairest in use. The socket is round and light, with a spur round, almost straight from the base, and varying in length from one and a quarter to one and three-quarter inches.

Cut No. 1 shows a full drop socket gaff. The blade comes from the back and lower part of the socket and curves upward. This is the most desperate weapon ever put on a chicken, and is used mostly in the South and West. Gaffs are sometimes made of silver, but usually of the finest steel and cost about $10 a pair.

The Heathwood is one of the best known breeds of cocks in this country. The birds of this breed are named from Thomas Heathwood, of Lowell, Mass., and are of various colors, ranging from four to six pounds in weight. The main objection to them is that they are built too high off the ground. The Derby cock was imported from England some years ago, where it had obtained quite a fighting reputation.

TWO STEEL GAFFS.

The Dominick breed is well-known, both north and south, but is backed principally in the latter section. The Stone Fence breed was originated in North Carolina by the Arlington family, and a fine record of fifty years is claimed for some of them.

The Missouri Cottonwood is a breed started in Kansas City some years ago by crossing three of the finest strains in the country. The birds are usually of a bright red and shining black color, built close to the ground, and having remarkable speed and saving qualities. They are always strong favorites in a pit. The Tornado cock is one of the best in the country. The strain was originated in Michigan, where it is now a strong favorite. The Tartar and Estin strains are also well-known and liked. The Jap is a bird very different in looks from any raised in this country, but it is one of the finest fighters ever pitted.

MAKING BASE-BALLS.

Automatic Machines That Wind Much Better Than Human Hands.

Winding base-balls by hand is a thing of the past. Machines have been invented to do the work automatically, consequently every ball is like its fellow. Each machine winds two balls at one time. A little para rubber ball weighing three-quarters of an ounce, around which one turn has been made with an end of a skein of old-fashioned gray stocking yarn, is slipped into the machine. Then another, after which the boy in charge touches a lever, the machine starts, and the winding begins. The rubber ball is hidden in a few seconds and in its place appears a little gray yarn ball that rapidly grows larger and larger. When it appears to about half the size of the regulation base-ball there is a click, the machine stops, the yarn is cut, and the boy picks out the ball and tosses it into a basket. When this basket is full it is passed along to another boy who runs a similar machine, where a half-ounce layer of worsted yarn is put on.

The next machine adds a layer of strong white cotton thread, and by watching closely as the white appears on the surface of the gray the beauty of the winding machine can be appreciated. There is perfect regularity and no point where the thread crosses oftener than in another. A coating of rubber cement is next applied, and a half-ounce layer of the very best fine worsted completes the ball with the exception of the cover. Each ball when completed must weigh five and a quarter ounces and measure nine and a quarter inches in circumference. The minute differences in the balls are equalized by the thickness of the cover.

Every ball and cover is weighed before the cover is sewed on. The cover resembles two figure 8's in shape and is cut from selected and specially prepared horse hides. There is only one kind of professional dead ball made, the supposed difference lying in the cover and stamps only. The patentees of the winding machine employ about 500 hands at their factory in Philadelphia and have about 40,000 dozen balls in stock. Several cheap grades of balls are also manufactured, those retailing for 5 and 10 cents being made from pressed leather shavings.

Spain's Lead Production.

Spain furnishes nearly a third of the world's production of lead. The deposits are extremely numerous and the ore is of exceptional purity. A specimen of lead ore from the Nuestra Senora del Carmen mine, at Montornes, sent by the proprietress of the mine to the Barcelona exhibition, is stated to contain 84 per cent of lead and three and one-fifth ounces of silver to the ton. Some fine specimens of lead are shown from the works of the Marquis of Villemeyor, where the daily yield is 100 tons, and from the lead works of the Royal Asturian Mining company. The production of the latter works during the year 1887 included 6,500 tons of pig lead, 16,300 tons of zinc ingots, and 11,000 pounds of fine silver.

Consumption of Snails.

Paris eats a vast quantity of snails. Every day 90,000 pounds are sent to the city from the gardens of Burgundy, Champagne, Provence and Poitou, where they are specially reared for this purpose. They are not only eaten as a delicacy but on account of their highly nutritious qualities.

The Verdict Unanimous.

W. D. Sult, Druggist, Bippus, Ind., testifies: "I can recommend Electric Bitters as the very best remedy. Every bottle sold has given relief in every case. One man took six bottles, and was cured of rheumatism of ten years' standing." Abraham Hare, druggist, Bellville, Ohio, affirms: "The best selling medicine I have ever handled in my twenty years' experience, is Electric Bitters." Thousands of others have added their testimony, so that the verdict is unanimous that Electric Bitters do cure all diseases of the Liver, Kidneys or Blood. Only a half dollar a bottle at F. Sherer & Co's drugstore.

THERE IS NO ONE ARTICLE IN THE LINE of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed Belladonna Backache Plasters.

Dick Roche's 2-year-old colt Liberty, winner of the St. Louis Futurity stakes, having shown weakness in the forelegs, has been fired recently. It is thought he will now stand training all right next spring.

THE STATUE OF LEWIS CASS UNVEILED.

Judge Edgerton Writes to the President Regarding His Removal From the Civil Service Commission.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The statue of Lewis Cass, presented to the people of the United States by Michigan and placed in Statuary hall at the capitol, was unveiled Monday. There were no formal exercises in the hall, the commissioners on the part of the State merely removing the cloth that had veiled the statue since it was placed in position last November. There were present George W. Cass, a grandnephew, and Mrs. M. G. Vanhorne, a grandniece of Gen. Lewis Cass; both of Chicago; H. H. Ledyard of Detroit, two members of his family, and M. McMillan, related to the Cass family; Dr. Hamilton E. Smith, Philo Parsons, W. A. Burt, and Capt. W. G. Vinton, commissioners on the part of Michigan.

THE STATUE OF LEWIS CASS.

In the Senate Mr. Palmer, in accordance with previous notice, offered concurrent resolutions returning the thanks of Congress to the Governor and people of the State of Michigan for the statue of Lewis Cass, "whose name is so conspicuously connected with the development of the northwestern territory, and with eminent services to his State and country, both at home and abroad," accepting the same in the name of the nation and assigning it to a place in the old hall of Representatives. After a review of the public service of Gen. Cass, Mr. Palmer said that he knew of no public man who had filled so many places in the economy of life—teacher, explorer, negotiator of treaties, Governor, pioneer, lawyer, legislator, marshal, soldier, diplomate, Secretary of War, Senator and Secretary of State, in all of which positions Gen. Cass had acquitted himself surprisingly well.

Mr. Morrill, at whose instance it was that the old hall of representatives was converted into a statuary hall, was the next speaker. He eulogized Gen. Cass and indicated the names of other illustrious Americans whose statues would in time stand in the same hall. Mr. Chandler also spoke, saying that the State of New Hampshire was, as well as the State of Michigan, honored by the statue here because Lewis Cass was born in New Hempshire. Mr. Morgan expressed his cordial approval of the resolution and his concurrence in the statements and sentiments of other speakers. He was glad of the opportunity of uniting with other Senators in doing honor to the memory and fame of Lewis Cass. On motion of Mr. Stockbridge the resolutions were adopted unanimously.

EDGERTON TALKS BACK.

The Ex-Civil Service Commissioner Writes to the President.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—Judge A. P. Edgerton, who was recently removed from the office of Civil Service Commissioner, has written an open letter to the President. He says among other things:

"I was indebted to you for the only appointive office I ever held. You now declare by your action that you regret the appointment. I with equal right can say that I regret the acceptance. If you believed me unfit for the position or neglectful of duty you should have removed me long ago, but I presume there were prudential political reasons why you did not make the removal until after the election. In this regard it would almost seem as if you were willing to play false with the mugwumps to enable you to win the Democrats.

"The result of the election placed you in a dilemma from which few people would have known how to extricate themselves. You found a man on your hands whom the mugwumps had declared war upon, an enemy to their civil service reform theories, and your plan of becoming their representative in the future would be weakened or defeated if an assurance of your fidelity to their cause could not be secured. Accordingly it appears that you decided upon the removal of the head of the commission, and, deeming Mr. Thompson a good enough mugwump for them, you therefore demanded my resignation that you might appoint him, apparently as an atonement for your previous inaction.

"Mr. President, allow me to say that you are a very peculiar man, a positive man; positively wrong or positively right, and therefore an unsafe man to trust; and that element in your character I believe led to your defeat. Being a positive man yourself, you have kept some men of like character around you who are positive only in their malice and conceit. They flatter you and have the conceit that would magnify themselves and the malignity that would detract from others. You were credulous enough to believe that you were elected President by the mugwumps, and, therefore, you permitted them to malign your real friends and to flatter you into a policy which led to your defeat. You believed that your will and power to enforce it was above all powers, but the will of the people expressed in a constitutional way has taught you that there was a wiser and better way than that chosen by you.

"Having sworn to support the civil-service law, it has been my constant effort to do so; but I never did swear to support a mugwump interpretation of it, based on a monstrous assumption that the commission was independent of law. How many poor unfortunates have been denied the advantages and benefits of the law by questions never contemplated by it, and how many expenses have been incurred through unnecessary and devious requirements and practices, it is not my purpose at this time to state.

"You will be censured and condemned because you put no trust in your own party, but believed yourself to be better than your own and greater than all parties. You have ascertained that the many were not made for the one. You can find as many reasons for removing me as the Democratic party, through an indifference which was simply retaliatory, had for removing you. I shall be quite willing to remain with you in the gloom of defeat."

The judge then gives his understanding of the civil-service law, and alluding to his removal says:

"I do not ask you to give any reason for this act. I know, and so do you, that the only one you could give would be that it was your will, for if you attempted to give any other your own previous words would prove it to be untrue.

"I can point to another removal than mine, beyond a parallel, to go down through history when I shall be forgotten, and which must become an important part of the history of the country. I was on the floor of the House of Representatives when the votes of the electoral college were counted and heard the announcement of the result—that Benjamin Harrison was duly elected President of the United States. but the words that burned deep through the empty boxes of the administration could not be officially added, though known to be true, 'in place of Grover Cleveland, removed.' By whom, and for what cause, removed? The answer is now being made in every home, in every business in the land, and history will inscribe it upon its records."

Judge Edgerton attributes Mr. Cleveland's defeat to his disregard of the opinion and advice of the most eminent men of his party and to his political ingratitude, and continues as follows:

"You do not understand the civil service law, Mr. President. Its examinations are not made for those inside, but for those outside. Your theory of inaction would defeat the law. You have not dared to weed out incompetents."

TO MONTANA, OREGON AND WASHINGTON.

If you are going west bear in mind the following facts: The Northern Pacific Railroad owns and operates 987 miles, or 57 per cent. of the entire railroad mileage of Montana; spans the territory with its main lines from east to west; is the short line to Helena; the only Pullman and dining car line to Butte, and is the only line that reaches Miles City, Billings, Bozeman, Missoula, the Yellowstone National Park and, in fact, nine tenths of the cities and points of interest in the territory.

The Northern Pacific owns and operates 621 miles or 56 per cent of the railroad mileage of Washington, its main line extending from the Idaho line via Spokane Falls, Cheney, Sprague, Yakima and Ellensburg, through the center of the territory to Tacoma and Seattle and from Tacoma to Portland. No other transcontinental through rail line reaches any portion of Washington Territory. Ten days stop over privileges are given on Northern Pacific second class tickets at Spokane Falls and all points west, thus affording intending settlers an excellent opportunity to see the entire territory without incurring the expense of paying local fares from point to point.

The Northern Pacific is the shortest route from St. Paul to Tacoma by 207 miles; to Seattle by 177 miles, and to Portland by 324 miles—time correspondingly shorter, varying from one to two days, according to destination. No other line from St. Paul or Minneapolis runs through passenger cars of any kind into Idaho, Oregon or Washington.

In addition to being the only rail line to Spokane Falls, Tacoma and Seattle, the Northern Pacific reaches all the principal points in Northern Minnesota and Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Oregon and Washington. Bear in mind that the Northern Pacific and Shasta line is the scenic route to all points in California.

Send for illustrated pamphlets, maps, and books giving you valuable information in reference to the country traversed by this great line from St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth and Ashland to Portland, Oregon, and Tacoma and Seattle, Washington, Territory, and enclose stamps for the new 1889 Rand McNally County map of Washington Territory, printed in colors. THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

Ferd Roth's Body Found in the Monroe Woods Early this Morning.

The Case Undoubtedly One of Suicide—A Mania for Self-Destruction.

Special to the Gazette.

MONROE, WIS., Feb. 19.—A boy while hunting in the woods two miles from Monroe this morning, discovered the body of Ferd Roth. A bullet hole in his forehead and a revolver in his hand indicated the cause of death. Deceased who was 31 years old, left home some two weeks ago after a dispute with his wife saying that she would never see him again alive. A mania for self destruction is said to have run in his family.

THE TAILORS ARE OUT.

A Strike Ordered By the Local Union Last Night.

A general strike among all the journeymen tailors of the city was ordered by the local union at a secret session last night. To-day none of the twenty or thirty-five union men reported for work.

The strike is in consequence of a reduction in prices, claimed by the men to amount to twenty-five per cent. The new scale was posted yesterday and the employers insist that they will stand out firmly for its enforcement. The strikers are equally firm in their demands for a return to the old figures. The shops affected are those of Kneff, Allen & Co., J. L. Ford and Frank N. Webster, the employes in the other city shops being non union—chiefly girls.

AMONG THE BREAKERS.

A CLEVER PIECE OF WORK BY HOME AMATEURS.

There was a fair sized audience at Lappin's hall last evening to witness the production of the two act drama "Among the Breakers," by home talent. Preparations for the entertainment have been in rehearsal for some time under the direction of Mrs. J. B. Day, to whom much credit is due for the success attained. The leading role was taken by Mr. Morris M. Bostwick, that of "David Murray, keeper of the Fairpoint Light," he being ably assisted by Will Woodstock as "Larry Devine." Mr. J. B. Hayner appeared as "Hon. Bruce Hunter," and acted his part very cleverly. "Charley Hunter," found a fine impersonator in Mr. Bert Clark, Will Cody, as "Peter Paragraph," the reporter, did well, as did also Clarence Burdick, as "Scudd," the colored servant. Among the ladies Mrs. J. B. Day carried both the burdens and the honors of the little drama, she being ably assisted by Mrs. Emma C. Christman. Both ladies did exceedingly well and won much praise from the audience by their splendid acting. Miss L. M. Godden and Miss Clyde Randall did some very clever work in the parts assigned to them.

The presentation of the play showed careful study and training, and was in every way creditable to those concerned.

TO HIS BOYHOOD HOME.

REMAINS OF REV. JOHN G. COLLINS BROUGHT TO THIS CITY.

Attended by an escort of mourning friends the remains of the Rev. Father Collins arrived in this city at 3:20 this morning. The casket was at once taken to the home of the bereaved parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Collins, at 105 Holmes street.

Those who accompanied the remains from Eau Claire, besides Dean McGinnity and the Sisters of Mercy from St. Joseph's convent, were Messrs. T. R. Riley, J. A. Kirk, W. H. Fawley, T. H. Fleming, Edward Dowd, M. C. Carroll and John Leonard. Funeral services will be held Thursday morning, and one hundred from Father Collins' church at Eau Claire will reach Janesville on a special train at seven o'clock. Part will be taken in the funeral services by cleagy from all parts ot the state.

HYMEN'S JOYS.

KEOUGH-MOSES.

Four smiling young people from Clinton stepped off the "accommodation" in this city last evening. Ten minutes later all were registered at the Grand, and this morning the object of their mission was made plain. When they arrived last night the first couple had registered as John Keough and Miss Winnie Moses; but when they returned from a stroll about town this forenoon they put on the register with a flourish of assurance "Mr. and Mrs. John Keough." The marriage was performed by Father Riley at St. Patrick's church this morning and the wedding party will return to Clinton this evening.

JANESVILLE'S TRAFFIC.

The Influence Upon It of the Taylor Bill Thoroughly Discussed.

Prominent Railroad Men Address the Business Men's Association.

Railroad men, and merchants and manufacturers interested in railroad traffic, were out in force last evening. The parlors of the Business Men's Association were filled. The Taylor bill and its influence upon the business of Janesville, and of Wisconsin, underwent discussion from every possible standpoint. On the part of the railroads there were present Mr. A. C. Bird, general traffic manager of the Milwaukee & St. Paul; John T. Fish, solicitor of the Milwaukee & St. Paul; H. C. Wicker, general traffic manager, and Burton Johnson assistant general freight agent of the Northwestern, and E. J. Foster, assistant general freight agant of the Winona.

Senator H. A. Taylor was to have been present himself in support of the bill but was unavoidably detained. His cause was given able representation by Mr. E. P. Bacon, "who, if he isn't a senator," remarked Solicitor Fish, "certainly ought to be."

The resolution for discussion, opposing the bill, was read by Secretary Bowles. Mr. Wicker opened the ball for the railroads. He insisted that further railroad legislation of a restrictive nature in Wisconsin was uncalled for. Railroad legislation in the state was brief ly reviewed, as well as the satisfactory manner in which the state traffic had been cared for under the statutes now in force, it being held that the public found little reason to complain. An examination of the reduction in rates during the past few years would show them to be very large.

"Our chief objection to the bill under discussion," said the speaker, "is that we believe

NO SUCH BILL IS NEEDED.

There is just this danger in conferring the power to make rates upon a commission, as this bill proposes to do. What the commission fix upon as the maximum rates are taken by the roads as the minimum. What is needed is a scale of rates having some flexibility. These may be as public as you please; but it can be shown, we think, that there should be opportunity for concessions where concessions are needed. A cast-iron rate would be fatal to Wisconsin's future. It is what troubles Iowa now."

THE BILL'S DEFENDER.

Following Mr. Wicker came Mr. E. P. Bacon, who represented Senator Taylor. "I am somewhat over-awed," he said "by the railroad representation that I confront; but I want to say that I am here in no way in opposition to the railroad interests of the state. I am very sorry to hear the bill introduced by Mr. Taylor spoken of as one intended to cripple the railroads and impair their facilities.' Were the complaint true I should be the last to appear in the bill's support."

The speaker continued that he did not think railroad men were any more than any other business men. With business men, however, competition reduced profits to a fair margin; while in the bulk of railroad business competition drops from sight. In this state the two greatest roads work practically together making joint rates and moving

PRONE TO OVER-REACH

IN THE SAME GROOVES.

The consequence is that on local business, which is the business in which the state is most interested rates are much higher than on business between competitive points. Particularly with a view to this the bill under discussion was drawn.

"After long deliberation," said the speaker, "the inter-state commerce act was formulated for the regulation of the railroad traffic of the United States. It seems to me an act of wisdom on the part of the people of Wisconsin to accept the result of these deliberations for guidance in their own case. The Taylor bill is now practically the same as the interstate law. Under it the 'inflexible scale' spoken of by Mr. Wicker is not even a possibility and it seems to me that its provisions cannot be found other than reasonable and of practical use."

Mr. Bacon was followed by Traffic Manager Bird.

ANOTHER FOR THE ROADS.

"I think one of the most favorable demonstrations of the standing of the railroad interests in the state, said Mr. Bird, "is the opportunity afforded to give our views a sull presentation. But as far as the discussion has proceeded, the question taken up has been the effect of the Taylor bill upon the railroads of the state. Instead, as I understand it, the question is the effect of the bill upon the interests of the state. If it becomes a law its effect will be an injurious one. It will be especially injurious to

THE WISCONSIN MANUFACTURERS.

The raw material comes largely from Lake Michigan ports, and the manufactured article is shipped to points south and east. The railroad companies have realized that to make rates on material for manufacturing ordinarily remunerative would make manufacturing unprofitable. They have been satisfied, therefore, with rates that are merely nominial and to find their recompense in the

INCREASE OF GENERAL PROSPERITY.

Under the Taylor bill this would be impossible. Everything must be placed on precisely the same footing. The establishment of manufactories in points removed from natural centers of supply, such as Chicago and Milwaukee, make reduced rates—'commodity rates'—a necessity, if such manufacturing is to be carried on at a profit. By section three of the bill this is expressly forbidden. The bill is so drawn that benefits would at once come to lake ports and

INJURY TO ALL POINTS INLAND."

The effects likely to follow railroad legislation were spoken of at considerable length. The Taylor bill was pronounced a premium offered to outside influences to break down the interests of the state at large. To apply the law was to hasten a calamity grievous alike to the people, and to the railroad companies. Not in six years of practical work had the speaker met with a complaint that reference to the commission had not satisfactorily settled.

"It makes me think," he said of the man whose epitaph read: 'I was well, I wanted to be better, I took too much medicine

AND I DIED".

Solicitor Fish, of the St. Paul road, spoke especially upon the effect of the proposed bill upon the railroads themselves. The roads, he claimed, would be made powerless to aid the enterprises along their lines—enterprises which they have been for years engaged in building up. It is for the interest of a road to build up as many industries as possible along all the lines of the road; and all acts of the kind proposed are a direct blow at the

INDUSTRIES OF THE STATE

Mr. Bacon insisted, in his answer, that the possible effects of the bill had been greatly exaggerated. The mileage provision had been confused with that of Iowa, while as a matter of fact, it was entirely different. A commission was spoken of as the only fully adequate medium between the people and the roads. There are complaints on every hand which people will not lay before the roads on account of previous experience in the same line. Before a commission which the people regard as their own, they would go freely, and local abuses would be much sooner done away with.

HOW IT AFFECTS JANESVILLE.

The discussion was formally closed by Mr. Bird.

"If the bill becomes a law and is enforced," he said after a general review of the arguments on both sides, "the effect upon the manufactories of Janesville would be to dry them up unless the profits during the past few years had been enormous. This fact is one which business men already have in mind."

THE GOOD TEMPLARS.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING—THE SESSION OF TO-DAY.

The public meeting of the Sixth District Lodge of Good Templars at Court Street M. E. church last evening was well attended. The speakers of the evening were Grand Chief Templar Chapin and the Rev. E O. Taylor, of Kenosha. The former gave some very interesting statistics showing how the money was raised and how expended, and why the Good Templars excelled other temperance workers. The Good Templars now number about 700,000, each member paying annually forty cents a year for district work; forty cents for the grand lodge; two cents for the Right Worthy Grand Lodge, and one half cent for missionary work. This was a different method than any other temperance organization, an it enabled the Templars to keep able lecturers in the field.

Mr. Taylor's address was wholly on temperance, which he considered the greatest question now before the people.

Vocal music was rendered by Mr. Geo Slawson and Miss Florence Dye, and Mr. Archie Chrawford, and the meeting was one of much interest and profit to all.

At the session this morning much of the time was devoted to explaining the "unwritten work," and "drill," by the Grand Chief Templar.

"Evils of Intemperance," a recitation by Glen Wray.

A vocal solo by Minnie Matheson.

The reading of a paper—"Social Power in I. O. G. T.,—by Rev. M. Evans' Questions answered by Chief Templar Chapin.

A chorus by the lodge—"Hold the Fort."

Another paper by the Rev. E. O. Taylor, "How to Prevent Suspensions."

These concluded the exercises, which were confined to members of the order. Altogether the session has been one of much interest, and will result in good to the noble order.

A RISE IN TEMPERATURE.

AN UNEXPECTED CALLER AND THE CHANGE THAT HE BROUGHT.

"Johnny, you ignoramus," howled a teacher not a thousand miles from Janesville, the other day, "aren't you ever going to learn how much three times nine is?'

"T-t-twenty four, ma'am" was the trembling response.

"There you are. Now you little fool sit down here in front until you find out the right answer.

Just then a step was heard outside and the superintendent looked in on his daily rounds. The effect was startling. Johnny found himself regarded with a smile that was bland even though a trifle apprehensive.

'Johnny dear", said the instructor, "can you tell what three times nine is now?'

And Johnny registered a wish that superintendents would be provided for every room.

Mrs. Butterfield's Little Daughter Says She Saw Him Take the Satchel.

The air was a trifle thicker in the municipal court to day, and the crowd a trifle denser. Otherwise there was little change from the proceedings of yesterday.

The forenoon was occupied with witnesses for the state. Mrs. Butterfield finished her testimony and was followed by her six-year-old daughter, who said that she saw the defendant take the satchel and place it under his coat. Bertha Tyrer testified as to the defendant's knowing that Mrs. Butterfield had money and was somewhat annoyed by a searching cross-examination. F. C Cook swore that the "diamonds" were brilliants, valued at five dollars

Frank McMichalls testified that he saw Mrs. Butterfield in the coal room at about the time Green was taking his departure. Testimony of the same nature was given by W. H. Brundage, Richard Dermis and John Wright. Geo. Wright and Orrin Sutherland testified as to the finding of the bag.

This afternoon the defendant was put on the stand. He admitted seeing the bag as it lay on Mrs. Butterfield's bed, but denied taking it. The case will occupy most of to morrow.

MADISON UNIVERSITY STUDENTS KEPT FROM THEIR CLASSES.

Special Correspondence.

MADISON, Feb. 18th.—A practical joke cut down the attendance at classes one day last week materially. Some one dosed the drinking water at Mrs. Frawley's boarding house, and as Mrs. Frawley's boarders number about a hundred, the joke was widely felt.

The students will ask the legislature for an appropriation for a gymnasium, the Regents having refused to do so. A great deal of enthusiasm was manifested at the students meeting and the vote was unanimously for the scheme. A committee of five was appointed to lay the case before the legislature, and each man is also supposed to consider himself a committee on the members from his district.

JUDGE KEYES' METHOD.

HOW THE DANE COUNTY MUNICIPAL JUDGE DISPOSES OF TRAMPS.

To the Editor.

EVANSVILLE, WIS., Feb. 18th, 1889.

The following clipping is taken from the State Journal, of Madison, of Feb. 16th, 1889.

In the municipal court, this morning, Judge Keyes explained to a tramp the desirability of his leaving town as soon as possible and the fellow acquiesced in the matter and started for Janesville, where, it is said, tramps are comfortably provided for. Chief of Police Adamson says he thinks Judge Keyes' method of dealing with the genus pedester is a vast saving to the county over the plan of sending them to the county jail for a term of three months. The chief says that since Col. Keyes took the chair he has, in this way saved the county about $800. On a sentence of ninety days each tramp costs the tax payers about $40, at 43 cents per day for board and the costs of prosecution.

On behalf of the tax-payers of Rock county I trust you will give it place in your weekly issue, and sincerely hope the good example set by Judge Keyes, so ably supported by Chief-of-Police Adamson, of Madison, will be duly considered and acted upon by the officers of our county in dealing with the 'genius pedester" and thereby lighten the burden of our tax-payers, and remove from Rock county the name of the "Elysium county" of Wisconsin for tramps.

How to Reduce Your Expenses.

You can do it easily, and you will not have to deprive yourself of a single comfort; on the contrary, you will enjoy life more than ever. How can you accomplish this result? Easily; cut down your doctor bills. When you lose your appetite, and become bilious and constipated, and therefore low spirited, don't rush off to the family physician for a prescription or, on the other hand, wait until you are sick abed before doing anything at all; but just go to the druggist's and for twenty-five cents get a supply of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets. Take them as directed, and our word for it, your unpleasant symptoms will disappear as if by magic, you will have no big doctor's bill to pay, and everybody interested (except the doctor), will feel happy.

Coughs, hoarseness, asthma or any irritation of the throat or bronchial tubes will be relieved by taking Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup. It has cured thousands. Recommend it to your friend and neighbor.

JOHNSTOWN.

—The Stewart Grand Concert Co., formerly the Wilberforce Co., will give a song rehearsal at the Congregational church on Friday evening, February 22, Admission 25 cents.

—Louis Rye shipped a carload of hogs to Chicago last Monday.

Hiram Groesbeck goes to Denver, Col., next week to spend the summer.

—Mrs. Schmaling who has been quite ill is convalescing.

—The Dunn county insane who were kept in our Asylum, were removed to the La Crosse Asylum last week.

—Ed. Water's folks were called to Whitewater last Monday, to attend the funeral of a relative.

—Calkins Bros. have been sawing wood in this neighborhood this week; any one wanting a good job done quickly will do well to call upon them.

—The Johnstown railroad is not dead, only resting awhile; it will soon break out afresh, providing—well wait awhile and you will see.

FOOTVILLE.

—Mr. Graves, of Magnolia, visited friends in this vicinity last week,

—Owing to the bad condition of the roads very few from out of town attended the dance at the hall last Friday evening, but quite a crowd from around town gathered together, making in all over forty numbers that were sold.

—It is reported that W. B. Campbell has leased his farm for an unlimited number of years, and will move into Janesville soon.

—Miss Holloway closed a very successful term of school here in the village on Friday of last week, and returned to her home in Janesville. Miss Holloway has had charge of the primary department and has given the best of satisfaction and her pupils regret very much to part with her. Miss Gleason, principal will have charge of the whole school from this time on until the close of the term.

—G. W. Snyder is giving the best of satisfaction in his school this winter, as indeed he alwaye does.

—It is reported that Mrs. Elmer Parmley took her departure for Denver, Colorado, last week to join her husband, who it is said is not so well as he has been. Mr. Parmley went to Colorado last fall with the hopes of improving his health which has not been good for several years, and his friends will be pained to learn that he has not derived as much benefit by the change as was expected.

—Miss Ad. Crow, of Center, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lottie Furgason, a part of last week.

—Considerable sickness prevails in Footville and vicinity, and our physicians are kept pretty busy most of the time.

—The youngest child of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shaw is reported quite sick with the measles.

—Miss Mary Brown is in Sparta caring for her sister Rose, who has been very ill at that place.

—Mr. Benj. Plotts returned to his home in Magnolia last week after a visit with friends here.

—The stone has been hauled on the grounds of the M. E. church for the foundation of the new parsonage and work will be commenced as soon as the weather will permit. This is a much needed improvment and it is hoped that all will lend a helping hand to aid in the good cause.

—Dr. Whiting, of Janesville, was called here on Thursday of last week to council with Dr. Lacey, of this place over the case of Mrs. F. Silverthorn. Mrs. Silverthorn is much better at present writing and is doing as well as could be expected for one who has been ill such a long time.

PERSONAL POINTS.

Guy de Maupassant, the French novelist, will soon make an expedition into central Africa, accompanied only by his valet.

Anton Rubenstein has been commanded by the Czar to compose an oratorio on the recent railroad accident in which the Russian monarch and his wife narrowly escaped being killed.

Charles Sherrill, the champion runner of Yale, class of '89, has been dangerously ill at his home in Washington. His physician says his recovery is certain, but thinks he will never be able to run again.

Alphonse Daudet, the famous French novelist, is just 48 years of age. In appearance he is decidedly handsome, and with his regular pose, fine, dark beard, and sympathetic eyes, strongly resembles Tennyson.

The Empress Frederick of Germany intends to pay a visit to Lord Tennyson at Farringford some time this month. This is not a rare circumstance with the laureate. Many of the guests are of royal birth and the Prince of Wales calls on him frequently.

James Grimshaw, a well-known English jockey has just died in Bohemia of cancer. At one time Grimshaw was almost as famous in his profession as Archer. He made a great deal of money at different times, but squandered it all, and his death leaves a wife and several children destitute.

It is a fact that Senator Palmer is writing a novel. He was inspired to the task by a conversation which he one day had with Senator Ingals who happened to remark that he had given up the attempt to produce a work of fiction. "No man can write a novel and also attend to his duties as Senator," remarked Ingalls. "You are mistaken," returned Palmer, "and I'll prove it to you."

His constant study of Homer has led Mr. Gladstone to form some very extraordinary theories. One of them is the belief that the Greeks were colorblind. If they were not, he contends, it would be impossible for Homer to have written of flocks "of purple sheep." At one time when he was presenting this view a celebrated agriculturist who was present remarked: "Ah! but I know that in certain parts of England there are flocks of 'purple sheep.'" Mr. Gladstone expressed surprise. Inquiries were made and it was found that these sheep were only of the ordinary brown color.

About A Hatch Which was in Good Shape.

We asked Mr. T. C. S. Hatch in regard to his luck in the Louisiana State Lottery, he stated that he had been investing for some months past in the lottery. That he sent his money in and received his tickets promptly. He purchased ten fortieth tickets about 10 Dec. 1888, among the ten was No. 69,704, the number that drew the capital prize, $600,000. When informed that it had drawn $15,000, he went at once to Waco and there deposited his ticket with the American Nat'l bank. Four days after he was paid by the American National bank the $15,000. Mr. Hatch has a wife and four children. He was comparatively a poor man, working as overseeer of the W. P. Gaines big valley farm, three miles south from McGregor, on a salary.—McGregor, (Tex.) Observer, Jan. 5.

I have been bothered with catarrh for about twenty years; I had lost sense of smell entirely for the last fifteen years, and had almost lost my hearing. My eyes were getting so dim I had to get some one to thread my needle. Now I have my hearing as well as I ever had, and I can see to thread as fine a needle as ever I did, my sense of smell is partly restored and it seems to be improving all the time. I think there is nothing like Ely's Cream Balm for catarrh—Mrs. E. E. Grimes; 66 Valley street, Rendrill, Perry county, Ohio.
